

14 poco cresc.

nev - er had dared. I had been so care - ful I 16

nev - er had cared. And he 17

made me feel ex-cit-ed— well, ex-cit-ed and scared.

19 20

Start

When he said, "Come in!" with that sick-en-ing grin, how could 22

I know what was in store?— Once his

24 mf

teeth were bared, though, I real - ly got scared— well, ex -

26 p 27 Misterioso

cit - ed and scared— But he drew me close and he 28

swal-lowed me down, down a dark slim-y path where lie

30

mp

se - crets that I nev - er want to know, And I know things now, man - y val - u - 'ble things, that I had - n't known — be - fore: — do not 35

31

33

put your faith in a cape and a hood, they will 37

mf

not pro - tect you the way that they should — and take 39

ex - tra care with stran - gers, ev - en

(BAKER appears, dejected.)

(LITTLE RED RIDINGHOOD)

Mr. Baker, you saved our lives. Here.

(LITTLE RED RIDINGHOOD hands BAKER her cape.)

BAKER

Are you certain?